

Global Association of Risk Professionals Convention

RepRisk Head of Business Development Alexandra Mihailescu attended the Global Association of Risk Professionals 15th Annual Risk Management Convention in New York last week to hear from leading risk managers with different views and perspectives on the current challenges facing the risk management community.