

-THE- DRAWDOWN

The ESG tech wave

by Alice Murray 11 January 2021

From static and infrequent DDQs to real-time, performance linked, fully integrated improvements; ESG is fast-becoming a tech play

ESG reporting is moving into its next phase and reaching new levels of sophistication. While the broader financial and investment market is suffering from a lack of standardisation, or too many frameworks, when it comes to figuring out which ESG metrics to adopt, new tech solutions enable fund managers to measure and report on ESG matters in all kinds of formats. And, with new EU rules coming into play, in order to comply, GPs must ensure they have the right systems in place to handle the entirely new set of ESG disclosure demands.

To read the full article, please visit <https://the-drawdown.com/article/the-esg-tech-wave>